

Voting Rights Case Before the Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers told the Supreme Court today that a Georgia federal judge "fell into gross and manifest error" by ruling parts of the 1957 Civil Rights Act unconstitutional.

The case is the first to be filed under the act to protect voting rights of Negroes. As a measure of the importance he places on it, Rogers arranged to argue the appeal personally in his first formal argument before the high tribunal as attorney general.

In an advance brief, Rogers said Judge T. Hoyt Davis of the Macon, Ga., U.S. District Court went beyond the facts of the case in dismissing a government complaint.

The complaint charged that voting registrars of Terrell County, Ga., discriminated against qualified Negro voters who wanted to get on the voting rolls.

Davis ruled that parts of the act were unconstitutional because they gave the attorney general the right to file injunction suits against individual citizens as well as state officials. He said Congress exceeded its constitutional powers.

Appealing directly to the Supreme Court, Rogers contended the Georgia suit sought to enjoin state officials—the voting registrars of Terrell County—and not private individuals.

Postal Rate Increase to Be Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower plans to call again for an increase in postal rates, Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) said today.

Halleck and other Republican congressional leaders were given a preview at the White House of Eisenhower's budget for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

In his State of the Union message last week, the President said, his budget going to Congress next Monday will call for spending $79,800,000,000.

He also predicted a $4,200,000,000 surplus.

At a news conference today, Halleck was asked whether the President's forecast of such a surplus was predicated on an increase in postal rates.

Halleck called it fair to assume — on the basis of the budget preview from which he had just come — that Eisenhower intends to renew his request of last year for higher postal rates.

Halleck gave no detail on how much of an increase the administration wants.

20 Negro Youths Jailed at Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP) — Twenty Negro youths were arrested last night, accused of cursing and creating a disturbance on a transit company bus while returning from a Negro high school basketball game.

Five of the youths were charged with disorderly conduct, profanity and malicious mischief. The 15 other boys were taken to juvenile court.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Boys' State 1960 will be held May 23-31, and Girls State June 5-11, The American Legion, which sponsors the week-long exercises in practical democracy, announced the dates yesterday.

About 800 boys and 600 girls participate annually. The meetings are held at Camp Robinson near Little Rock.

Remove 4% Interest Rate, Ike Pleads

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today called on Congress to remove what he called the archaic 4 1/2 per cent interest rate ceiling on long-term government bonds.

In a brief and forceful message — the first special message of the new session of Congress — Eisenhower, however, blamed Congress for boosting the cost of carrying the national debt.

"I deem it imperative, therefore, that this restrictive ceiling be removed," the President wrote.

"I am asking the secretary of the Treasury to transmit to the Congress proposed legislation designed to attain this objective."

Because of objections by many members to high and rising interest charges, Congress did not approve last year ceiling-removal action which Eisenhower described as the most urgent business before the lawmakers.

"Congressional inaction on this request has resulted in a much more rapid increase in short-term debt than would otherwise have occurred," today's message said.

"As a result, short-term Treasury borrowing costs have risen to the highest levels in several decades and the ability of debt management to operate in a manner consistent with sound principles of sustained economic growth has been seriously undermined."

The ceiling, enacted during World War I, applies to government securities which mature in five years or longer.

Wholesale Trade in Arkansas Is Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' wholesale trade in 1958 was up 14.7 per cent over 1957, according to a report by the federal Census Bureau.

The report said wholesale sales in 1958 totaled $1,145,000,000, compared to $998,000,000 in 1957.

A preliminary report on retail sales, issued last month, showed a 29.4 per cent increase in retail sales for the same period.

Political Payoff on Civil Rights Charged to GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two House Democrats said today "a political payoff" by Republicans to Southern Democrats is delaying action on civil rights legislation.

They gave that as a reason in noting that few Republicans have signed a petition which would force a House vote on the measure next month.

The "political payoff," said Reps. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) and James Roosevelt (D-Calif.), is the Republicans' compensation to Southern Democrats for their help last year in enacting a new labor law.

Although Republican House Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.) has denied existence of a coalition, liberal Democrats have said a combination of Republicans and Southern Democrats frequently has blocked measures they want.

Celler is chairman of the House Judiciary Committee which last year approved a bill extending civil rights legislation into the area of school integration.

The bill has been stymied in the House Rules Committee, dominated by Southern Democrats and Republicans.

Backers of the bill have filed a petition which, if signed by 219 House members — a majority — would force a vote despite the rules group's opposition.

While such petitions remain secret until they obtain the required number of signatures, reliable reports showed that at the opening of today's session, there were 151 signers, with fewer than 10 of them Republicans.

"The Republicans simply are holding back," Celler said. "Charlie Halleck hasn't given them the green light. This apparently is the political payoff for Southern support for upholding vetoes and for supporting the labor bill last year. This is the unholy alliance."

Roosevelt said there simply aren't enough Northern Democrats to provide 219 signers of the petition.

"We just must have some Republican votes and we should get them if they are sincere in what they preach," he said.

Chinese Pilot Loses Life in Freedom Bid

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A Chinese Communist pilot lost his life today in bidding for freedom with a crash landing of his MIG jet fighter on Formosa, an American source said.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry announced a Red flier had defected to Nationalist China and — without reporting his fate — said his plane was damaged slightly in landing at an emergency air strip in northeast Formosa.

The American source, who refused to be identified by name, said Nationalist officers near the crash site told him the plane landed in a beach area and buried its nose in the sand, killing the pilot.

"I deem it imperative, therefore, that this restrictive ceiling be removed," the President wrote.

"I am asking the secretary of the Treasury to transmit to the Congress proposed legislation designed to attain this objective."

125 Districts in Millage Drops

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Final tabulations by the state Education Department show 125 Arkansas school districts reduced tax millages in 1959.

Thirty-seven raised the millage and 26 voted to retain their old tax rate.

The department said the state's average school tax rate dropped from 36.07 mills to 34.68 as a result of the cuts.

Sheriffs to Discuss Pay Raise Proposals

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment to permit pay increases for elected officials will be discussed at a meeting of the Arkansas Sheriffs Assn. here this week.

The amendment, to be voted on in the November election, is on the agenda of the annual meeting which will be held tomorrow through Friday.

If the measure wins approval, the Arkansas Legislature would be empowered to double salaries of constitutional officers and other elected officials, including sheriffs.

Or the Legislature could set the salaries between the present limits and what a doubling would be.

A group of state and county officials, including Gov. Orval Faubus, reportedly talked about strategy for pushing this proposal during a closed meeting at Little Rock last week.

Most objective-office salaries now are limited to $5,000 a year, this includes sheriffs' salaries.

Faubus will attend the sheriffs' meeting. He is scheduled to install newly elected officers at a luncheon Friday.

Garland County Sheriff Leonard Ellis, host to the meeting, said some 200 peace officers are expected to attend.

Principal speakers will include Dr. Marshall Steel, president of Hendrix College at Conway, and Special FBI Agent J. J. Casper of Little Rock.

Woman Pleads Innocent to Child Beating

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Ilona Sasse plans to plead innocent Wednesday of battery in the dog-leash whipping of her daughter, Ursula Weel, 17.

Mrs. Sasse, 37, a German housewife, is free on bail of $1,350. A charge of child beating was reduced Monday to battery.

The mother-daughter conflict broke into the open last weekend after Ursula showed police wounds and bruises. She said her mother beat her with a dog-leash after she came from work and found Ursula had not prepared dinner and then refused to eat.

"I don't like my mother," said the girl.

Mrs. Sasse concedes she hit Ursula with the dog-leash but insists "I did not beat her."

Mrs. Sasse says the girl disobeyed, will not study and cannot hold a job.

"I don't want her in my house any more," she told reporters. "She lies, she tells people she has no shoes, no dresses, nothing to eat. That's not true."

Mrs. Sasse and her daughter Ursula, then 2 and her daughter Ursula, then 4, were separated by a 1943 bombing of Breslau. The daughters were reported killed. Mrs. Sasse remarried and came to the United States. She and the girls were reunited in 1957 with the aid of the Red Cross. Her husband is a machinist.

Castro Rejects U. S. Property Seizure Protest

BY RICHARD VALERIANI
HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's regime has rejected a U.S. protest against tactics used in seizing American property in Cuba and said it would speed up operation of its land reform program against both Cubans and foreigners.

Property owners were told to take their complaints to the Cuban courts.

U.S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal delivered a State Department protest Monday, complaining that lands and buildings of U.S. citizens in Cuba had been seized without court orders and frequently without written authorization.

The State Department said in many cases no inventories were made, no receipts given for the seized property and no indication given that payment would be made.

Acting Foreign Minister Marcelo Fernandez issued a statement Monday night which said the State Department "does not take into consideration the basic situation but rather relates a number of supposed deeds which are qualified as 'violations' of the agrarian reform

Rich Heiress, Friend Are in Paris

By GODFREY ANDERSON
PARIS (AP)—A New York debutante and her Romanian-born chauffeur friend are somewhere in the Paris area, a lawyer for the Romanian indicated today.
The attorney for 35-year-old Andre Porumbescu refused to say where his client is or whether he is with Gamble Benedict, 18-year-old heiress.

"With the press in full cry after them, they had to sleep outside Paris to get a little quiet," said Jean Coscesco, who said he had been retained by Porumbescu.

Search has been made here for the debutante and the chauffeur since they were reported to have left Antwerp on a Paris-bound express last Sunday.

Miss Benedict, who had left her grandmother's Manhattan home, and the chauffeur crossed the Atlantic to Antwerp aboard a freighter.

Coscesco at first said he had seen both Miss Benedict and Porumbescu separately, but later declared he had received their instructions by letter.

The lawyer insisted he could say nothing about their whereabouts or movements. However, he said he might have some statement to make later in the day.

On a tip, newsmen rushed to Coscesco's apartment, hoping to find the couple there. They found no sign of them.

Porumbescu has a wife and daughter in New York. A New York friend, Miron Butariu said the chauffeur and his wife are separated. Porumbescu was a chauffeur-butler for Mrs. Arde Bulova, widow of the watchmaker, when he became acquainted with Miss Benedict.

Friends of the girl said her grandmother, Mrs. Katherine Geddes Benedict, widow of Henry Harper Benedict, former president of the Remington Typewriter Co., had objected to her seeing Porumbescu. The girl and her 19-year-old brother, Douglas, had lived with their grandmother since the death of their mother from an overdose of sleeping pills in 1948.

Hope Teams in Twin Win Over Texarkana

By TEDDY JONES, JR.

In two close, thrilling games the Hope Senior Girls and Junior Varsity took a double win over Texarkana last night at Jones Field House.

Coach Gordon Beasley's Lady Cats won by a two point margin over the Texarkana girls 28 to 26.

Coach Don Culp's Junior Varsity skinned by with a one point, 20 to 19 win.

Three points provided the difference in the two games and each had the fans on the edge of their seats in the closing seconds.

The Lady Cats put on a successful stall in the final two minutes to protect a slim two-point margin while the boys game went right to the wire with the Texarkana team missing 2 free throws and a couple of field goal attempts in the last half minute.

The girls game Brenda Mitchell and Ida Nell England, Hope forwards, carried the brunt of the offense each scoring 13 points for a combined 26 total. Juanita Mosser scored the other two points to bring the Hope total to 28.

Violet Tommemaker played an outstanding game at guard for the Lady Cats, ably assisted by Janelle Robinson and Cecilia Godwin, who turned in good defensive performances.

Hope led at the half 16 to 13, but was trailing at the end of the third quarter, 21 to 18. A big fourth quarter, in which Hope outscored the visitors 10 to 5 brought the Lady Cats out on the big end of the 28-26 final.

Flarety with 9 points, Watkins with 6, and Birtcher with 5 were Texarkana's leading scorers.

Tobo Roberts of the Hope JV's was high in the boys game with 13 points. Barrow led for Texarkana and the runner up spot with 11 points.

Larry Hooten scored 6 and Jeffery Powell 5, Fry 3, and Billy Compton and Tony McFarly one each to complete Hope's scoring.

The first quarter ended 6 all; Texarkana led at the half, 18-14, remained in front 21-18 at the end of the third quarter, where the JV's outscored the visitors 11 to 7 brought the Hope boys the 29 to 28 win.

TOMAH, Wis. (AP)—A car carrying six passengers pulled around a tractor and haywagon at a railroad crossing at dusk Sunday and ran into the path of a Chicago & North Western passenger train. All six, including a father and three of his children, were killed.

The victims were George Emrich, 43, of Warrens, Wis.; his sons, Duane, 15, and Patrick, 11; a daughter Sandra, 5; his son-in-law James Lyon, 29, of Round Lake, Ill.; and a neighbor of the Emrich family, James Monarch, 75.

LAST STAND—Marcel Paillo leaped to deflect this puck fired by Dick Meissner of the Bruins at the Boston Garden. But Paillo didn't stop enough of them and was returned by the sorely retrained New York Rangers to Springfield, Mass., of the American Hockey League.

STANDING ORDER—Champions of the sports world are enshrined at Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum in London. The statues depict, left to right, Hogan Kid Bassey, Nigeria's former world feather foreman; Dick McJugger, British Olympic boxing champion; Ingemar Johansson, world heavyweight titleholder; and Herb Elliott, record-breaking miler of Australia.

1959 is now history, and it is nearly certain to have one unfortunate distinction: The largest total fire loss nationally of any year to date.

In view of that, we offer two resolutions for 1960:

(1) Let's resolve to make 1960 a better year than the standpoint of fire safety. The biggest single cause of fires is still that old bugaboo: Carelessness. Besides the great financial loss by fire (over $1 billion), it also snuffs out 1,500 lives a year! So, begin the new year right by correcting obvious fire hazards such as inadequate electric wiring, faulty stoves, cluttered storage rooms, etc.

(2) Resolve to be financially prepared for fire damage by having adequate fire insurance. Many home-owners, farmers and businessmen are still stingily carrying the amount of fire insurance which was "right" when they bought the property. But building costs and property values have skyrocketed in recent years — 45% during the Fifties alone!

Don't be content with unrealistic out-of-date insurance. Buy your policies in line with 1960's values!

Now, as in the past, we'd be glad to help you with any insurance problem.

Rhoden Fouled Out, Porkers Lose to Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas lost its leading scorer with four minutes to play and Texas ran off with a 72-66 Southwest Conference basketball victory last night.

Clyde Rhoden, who sparked a second-half Arkansas rally and totaled 22 points for the night, went to the bench with the score 64-62. Brenton Hughes cashed two free throws off the Rhoden foul and Texas was home free.

The Porkers rallied gamely after spotting Texas a 40-28 halftime lead. With Ronnie Garner and Jerry Carlton helping Rhoden carry the scoring load, the Razorbacks chipped away and finally erased the Longhorn advantage on a Rhoden basket which made it 60-60 with 6 1/2 minutes left.

The triumph left Texas and Texas A&M the only unbeaten teams in the conference. Arkansas carried a 2-0 lead into the game. Texas now has a 3-0 mark.

The Longhorns face A&M Thursday night in College Station. Arkansas' next game is against Rice Saturday night at Fayetteville.

The Porkers missed Pat Foster, the dandy floor man and point-maker who is recuperating from an appendectomy.

Garner and Carlton wound up with 15 points each.

Jay Arnette and Don Lasiter shared Longhorn basket honors with 20 apiece.

matter of FACT

Some of the strongest perfume materials are obtained from animals. The musk deer of Asia and Africa is hunted for a small gland. This contains such a powerful odor that polished steel can be made fragrant when shut up with it. The Mohammedans love perfume. They mixed some of this musk in the mortar used in building two mosques and the scent was noticeable for years.

Kentucky, KS Appear to Be Perking Up

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Basketball perennial Kentucky and Kansas State, put out to pasture by the experts a couple weeks ago, are perking up these days like the old fire horse when he hears the alarm.

Kansas State, the nation's top-ranking team a year ago, was put away after losing four of its first five games. Now the Cats have taken seven of their last eight, five in a row, and hold their accustomed first-place spot in the Big Eight Conference after whipping Oklahoma State at Stillwater, 64-49 Monday night.

As for Baron Adolph Rupp's Kentucky, they dropped three of their first seven, then were spilt by Georgia Tech in their Southwestern Conference opener Jan. 2.

They've come back to win three SEC games in a row for a 9-4 overall mark, topping the return to usual Kentucky form in a 64-42 romp Monday night that knocked Tulane out of first place.

West Virginia, the nation's third-ranking team, reeled off its 56th consecutive Southern Conference victory and its 39th straight home court triumph 94-74 over William & Mary. LaSalle, one of the four major unbeaten teams, won its Texas whipped Arkansas 72-66 to grab a half-game lead in the Southwest Conference, and victoriously Illinois and Iowa further scrambled the Big Ten Conference standings in other top Monday games.

In other SEC action, Dalen Showalter's 23 points led Tennessee

Cincinnati Still Rates Best, A&M Moves to Eighth

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's unbeaten Beavercats and California's once-beaten Bears remain 1-2 in the weekly Associated Press reckoning of the nation's college basketball teams.

Texas A&M and Villanova moved up into the top 10 for the first time as they carried their perfect records well into January.

Illinois and Wake Forest dropped out in the major changes in the new weekly accounting.

The Texas Aggies overcame Baylor and Texas Christian last week for a 10-0 record and gained eighth place, formerly held by Wake Forest, and Villanova (10-0) took ninth from Illinois.

The only other change in the rankings, based on the votes of 174 sports writers and broadcasters, was Ohio State switching places with Utah, the Buckeyes moving up to fifth and the Utes dropping to seventh.

Illinois (2-1) dealt Purdue (2-1) its first Big Ten loss 61-73 at Lafayette, Ind., despite a 43-point performance by the Boilermakers' 6-6 1/2 soph. Terry Dischinger.

When Iowa (3-1) spilled Michigan State (2-1) 92-79, it hit the conference lead to fifth-ranked Ohio State (3-0), which set a scoring record in a 109-38 romp over Delaware. Ohio State did it without ace sophomore Jerry Lucas, out with a bad ankle.

Other Big Ten games saw Indiana win its first conference game in four tries, 77-72 over Michigan behind Bob Wilkerson's 23 points, and Northwestern (2-1) hand Wisconsin its fourth straight league defeat, 79-69 as all five

Ike Gets Goodwill Message From K

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today received a "goodwill message" from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The message was described that way by Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, who delivered it personally at the White House.

After a 20-minute meeting with Eisenhower, arranged at Khrushchev's request, Menshikov told newsmen he could report only that he had delivered a goodwill message.

When reporters pressed Menshikov for detail regarding the message, he replied simply that he had conveyed Khrushchev's New Year's greetings and best wishes to the President and his family.

At a press conference earlier, Hoffa said the Massachusetts senator "has sacrificed the American labor movement in the hopes of getting some help in Los Angeles from the Southern bloc at the presidential convention."

He referred to Kennedy's part in amending the Landrum-Griffin labor bill.

In other conference activity, Colorado downed Kansas 65-61 and Missouri snapped a five-game losing string 69-61 over Nebraska in the Big Eight; VMI crushed Davidson 70-38 and The Citadel dropped Furman 59-55 in the Southern Conference; and Eastern Kentucky held its Ohio Valley conference lead with an 84-60 decision over Murray (Ky.).

Lien Doesn't Include the Oil
LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A materialman's lien on an oil and gas lease does not create a lien on oil produced by a well in the leased area, the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today.

Valley Steel Products Co. and Lane-Wells Co. sought to impound funds realized from the sale of oil by the owner of an unperfected leasehold in Ouachita County.

The two companies previously had obtained judgments against the holder, but Ouachita Chancery Court held that the judgments did not extend to the oil. The Supreme Court concurred in this view.

In the lawsuit, the two companies were opposed by the Tangle Drilling and Equipment Co., which claimed a prior right to proceeds from the oil by a previously asserted lien against the leaseholder and J. S. Brooks, a trustee.

Sum involved in the suit was $7,703.

Mental Case Kills 94-Year-Old Mother
NEW YORK (AP)—Police say a man with a history of mental illness Sunday night killed his 94-year-old mother in Brooklyn and then hanged himself.

Edward O'Reilly, 59, a maintenance man, was found by his wife hanging in an arched doorway. The body of his aged mother, Josephine O'Reilly, was found upstairs. She had been shot twice with a .22 caliber revolver.

Anna O'Reilly, 54, said her husband had been mentally ill, but his mother was in good health despite her age.

Nixon Sparks Both Praise, Criticism

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's entry into the presidential race sparked both praise and criticism during the weekend.

Politicians were not at all hesitant in expressing their views not only on Nixon, but also on matters ranging from religion to missile tests and alleged executive misbehavior.

Nixon became an acknowledged GOP candidate by consenting to have his name and delegate states entered in three primaries. The announcement was made without fanfare by his press representative, Herbert G. Klein.

The three primaries involved are in New Hampshire March 8, Ohio May 3 and Oregon May 20.

Nixon is considered a cinch for the nomination. New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said during the holidays he would not seek it, and no one else has appeared to challenge Nixon.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), the Senate Republican leader, said he wasn't surprised by what he called the agreeable news about Nixon. He added "we do believe we have a candidate who is a winner."

Dirksen said Rockefeller had made a "very realistic and very practical" move in withdrawing.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), Republican national chairman, said Nixon would be an "articulate, vigorous and tough candidate."

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler had a different description. He termed Nixon a "shrewd, devious political operator."

The two chairmen agreed on one point. They told a television audience that religion will not be an important factor in the fall elections.

One of the announced contenders for the Democratic nomination is Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), a Roman Catholic who also has made it clear that he thinks religion should play no part in the consideration of candidates.

Kennedy's only announced opponent for the nomination so far is Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.). He was speech-making in the West during the weekend.

Humphrey said in an interview at Salt Lake City that the United Nations should supervise missile tests and that the United States should ask the U.N. to supervise underground nuclear tests.

Humphrey said the biggest single issue in the presidential campaign is "the erosion of American leadership."

Former President Harry Truman also had something to say about leadership.

Speaking at Phoenix, Ariz., Truman said: "I blow up at what's been done not for the people but to the people in the last seven years. Vote for a halo once more and see what you get."

Truman said again he probably won't endorse a Democratic presidential candidate until just before the Democratic convention next July. He has denied reports that he already has decided on Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.).

Symington said Sunday in a radio-television interview "I certainly would like to be president." He added "I am not actively seeking delegates at present—but I am interested in the general subject."

Ohio's Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who has pledged all-out support to Kennedy, said he thought any of the potential Democratic nominees could be elected president.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said in a television interview that he would not favor an Easterner as a running mate for Nixon. He said his choice of the vice presidential spot would be either Dirksen or Rep. Charles McNickle of Indiana.

Leggett Appeal Is Before High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today formally took under submission a petition asking that condemned strangler slayer Emmett Earl Leggett be tried on two pending rape charges.

That means that a decision would be handed down as early as next Monday.

Leggett's attorney, Kenneth Coffelt, is attempting to get him tried on the rape charges so the question of the prisoner's mental condition may again be put before a jury.

Leggett, now 23, has been under death sentence since 1950 for the killing of Joe King, 14, near Jacksonville, late in 1953.

Building Program Planned in Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Ernest Vandiver today proposed a $68-million-dollar school building program and a pay raise for teachers, but told the Georgia Legislature he is still determined to close schools if necessary to prevent integration.

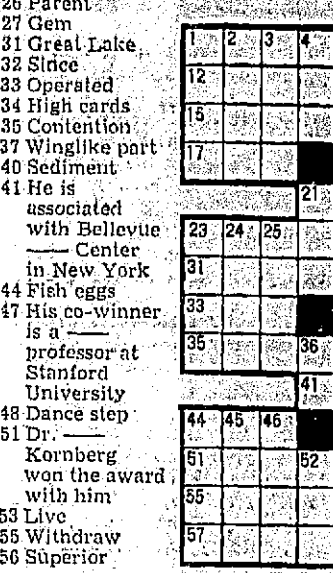

In his combined State of the State and budget message, preparation for delivery to the opening session of the General Assembly, the governor proposed to increase state spending about 46 million dollars a year without increasing taxes.

A substantial part of the increase would be devoted to financing a 100-million construction program of schools, hospitals and prisons.

Affidavit Law Is Before State Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An attorney for two teachers resisting Arkansas' controversial teacher affidavit law told the state Supreme Court today that the measure was a danger to educators.

Edwin Dunaway contended in oral argument on a court test of Act 10 of 1958 that some private organizations plan to use the law to get rid of teachers who belong to the Urban League and some other groups.

The act requires public school teachers and personnel to sign affidavits listing their membership and financial links with all organizations during a five-year period.

Dunaway represents Ernest Gophardt, a Little Rock teacher and Max Carr, a former instructor at the University of Arkansas.

The court is expected to hand down a decision in the challenge to the validity of Act 10 within a few weeks. A three-judge federal court upheld the law last June 8. Dunaway said his clients objected to listing of their organizations because of possible harassment. He said they were willing to furnish the information privately to administrators but did not want to make it public.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Bill Davis contended the teachers were taking the position that they should decide what information ought to be revealed to their administrative boards.

THE LADY AND THE GIANT By Clarence Budington Kelland

© 1959 by Clarence Budington Kelland © 1959 by The Curtis Publishing Company Distributed by NEA Service

MADAM JANEWAY, DAINTY PARASOL IN hand, tripped down the steps. She was possessed of a little figure which she handled with grace.

CHAPTER I

Lossie and I sat under the big elm between our twin houses on James Street. It seems not to have been uncommon in the days when our homes were erected, for brothers or close friends to build identical homes side by side, and this is what our fathers had done. They were close friends and partners, and if a stranger asked their business, they would reply they were salt boilers. The production of salt was, perhaps, the principal industry of Syracuse in the '80s.

Our homes were of red brick, square, and each was topped by a cupola. Fine doorways with fanlights stood behind Doric columns, and on each door was a silver plate bearing the name of the owner. On our door the name was Applegate, and on Lossie's door the name was Fox.

Across the street in a spacious yard stood a fine Corinthian-style house recently vacated by a mysterious and beautiful lady, arrived suddenly out of nowhere to take residence after a flurry of renovation, painting and furnishings.

This newest addition to our population created high curiosity and was the occasion of much whispering and speculation. That she was beautiful and stately could be observed by all; that she was wealthy was evidenced by her retinue and by the extremely handsome team of chestnut horses. The coachman was liveried, as was the butler, at whom Lossie and I gazed with some awe.

It was accepted quickly that she was to be spoken of as Madam Cissie Janeway—though just how this came to be so was a mystery to us who were wholly unacquainted with that art which, many years later, came to be known as public relations.

For some days after her arrival she was invisible, which was taken to be a sign of proper modesty and decorum. Then, each morning at 10, her open carriage drove around from the stables and Madam Janeway, dainty parasol in hand, tripped down the steps and she stepped into her equipage. She was of medium height, but seemed taller. She was possessed of a wonderful, lithe figure which she handled with consummate grace. Her little bonnet perched upon a coil of bronze hair. The envious guessed that she was in her later thirties; the unbiased opined that she might be in her closing twenties. The fact, not known until later days, was that she was 41.

Lossie had returned but the week before from her travels in Europe. Lossie was four years younger than I, being at that time in her nineteenth year.

No longer was she a creature with scrawny legs and flying hair and smudged cheeks. She did not even look the same, and I, after studying the matter carefully, was dismayed to see that she was on the verge of becoming a beautiful woman.

Lossie and I looked across the street to see Madam Janeway descend the front steps and walk across the front of the house to a garden where late flowers blossomed. She walked slowly, swaying a little as she walked.

"She looks," I said, "like a queen."

"She," snapped Lossie, "is making a parade."

"You're jealous," I said.

"You're a stupid boy. When you get to be a man you'll be more stupid."

"I am a man," I retorted, "I'm graduated from Cornell College and I'm admitted to the bar."

"Stupid!" she said with a shrug. And then, after a little pause while she scrutinized the lady across the street, she said, "hussy."

Banker Watts, wearing a tall beaver hat, was turning up the walk toward Madam Janeway's door. She became aware of him and turned with a graceful gesture to greet him. She led the way up the steps and they disappeared inside the house.

My mother called from our front porch. "Dinner's ready, Orin, and I went in."

Only mother, father and I sat at table. Father asked the blessing and hardly had his amen been spoken when mother said in her brisk way, "Banker Watts just went in across the way—probably to supper."

"I had lunch with Watts today, and her name came up."

"I warrant it did," mother said ironically.

"He didn't mention names," father went on, "but you could tell he was impressed. Somebody pretty high up."

Mother sniffed in a way she had, "P probably the natural daughter of an eagle," she said.

"Why the mystery? It's she's a member of some family like the Vanderbilts or the Goulds or Daniel Drews, why not come right out with it?"

"It was Watts who was reticent," father explained.

Mother charged the subject abruptly. It was a way she had. "You and Lossie are going to the Indian Fair?" she asked.

"Yes, mother."

"Foreign travel," mother said, "did Lossie good. She's improved."

We breakfasted at six o'clock because father must be out of his salt-boiling plant at seven. Our barn man had the team hitched and ready, well before eight, and I called impatiently from the driver's seat to Lossie, who came out presently, followed by the cook carrying a basket of lunch. Lossie was irritated.

"You don't hoot and holler for a lady to come out," she said tartly.

"Fiddlesticks," I told her. "Even if you've been to Europe and come home with your nose in the air, you're still Lossie. So don't put on airs with me."

It was not quite 10 o'clock when we reached the entrance to the Indian Fair, but we could not find it because the road was blocked by an excited crowd toward which people were running from all directions. In the middle of it stood a chubby man, muddily to the knees, who shouted and waved his hands and pranced.

I recognized him as one Cideon Emmons, who earned a living by doing odd jobs.

"Me and Henry Nicholls, we dug it up!" His voice broke to a burst of squeal. "It's a giant more'n 40 feet long, all petrified and turned to stone! A great monster of a giant stretched in his grave. It's got arms 'n' legs 'n' a face 'n' all like that! Me 'n' Henry we dug down to it 'whilst we was diggin' a well fur Stubby Newell. Down back of the barn on his Cardiff farm. It's a miracle, that's what it is, and nothin' like it's ever been seen in the world!"

"Is he drunk?" Lossie asked, gripping my arm.

"Don't look it," I said. "So I come grinnin', leaving Hank to guard it."

"If it's petrified," called a penetrating nasal voice, "it wouldn't run off. Not to speak of."

I recognized old David Hannum, bunter and one of the slickest horse traders in the county.

"Let's go see," Lossie said.

Plane in Danger, Berle Entertains

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Milton Berle entertained passengers for two hours Sunday night while an American Airlines jet circled near Idlewild Airport dumping and using up fuel. Then the plane landed safely. Airlines officials said the plane's pilot, Capt. William Miller, thought the gear level indicator was functioning improperly.

cagerly.

The same idea struck the mob, and it streamed off down the road. We turned down the road into the valley toward Cardiff, which was less than a hummel.

It was a rough road, probably not passable at all after rain, but we reached Stubby Newell's farmhouse without mishap. We were among the first to arrive and in he confronted by bearded Henry Nicholls, important, but obviously awed.

"Keep back! Keep back 'n' be leetful!" he bellowed. "Don't cave her in!"

But the increasing crowd paid no attention. It trampled its way to a lot spot behind the barn—a low, damp spot—and struggled for positions at the front.

"Mind o' Goshen," a subdued voice exclaimed. "A great, layin' nation giant. Bigger'n' me 'n' twice as natural. All twisted, like he up 'n' died of a belly-ache."

I managed to force a way through for Lossie. The crowd knew our fathers, so we were given some consideration. We stood at the crumbling brink of a pit some three feet deep and there under our eyes was indeed a giant, not 40 feet tall, as Cideon Emmons had said, but maybe a dozen feet in length. It lay upon its back and stared up at the sky out of sightless eyes. To me, in that moment, it seemed a noble, dignified face that I looked upon.

Parcel Post Hike Is Step Nearer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Parcel post users have lost the first round of their legal fight against an 88-million-dollar-a-year increase in postage rates on packages and catalogues.

The judge, however, also denied a government motion to dismiss the complaint. As a result, it will remain on the court calendar for argument later on a request for a permanent injunction.

The higher rates are scheduled to go into effect Feb. 1.

Georgia Gets $9 Million School Bill

By JIM THOMASSON

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Ernest Vandiver today proposed a $9 million dollar public school building program and a pay raise for teachers, but told the Georgia Legislature he is still determined to close schools if necessary to prevent integration.

In a message for delivery to the opening session of the General Assembly, the governor proposed to increase state spending about 40 millions a year without increasing taxes.

A substantial part of the increase would be devoted to financing a 100 million authority type construction program of schools, hospitals and prisons.

The governor did not ask for any new segregation legislation—the first time in years that no such administration measures will be offered.

But Vandiver declared sternly, "we will resist... we will exhaust every legal means and remedy available to us."

He took indirect notice of the Atlanta school situation; where an integration order was delayed only to allow the Legislature to consider the matter.

"During recent weeks," he said, "events have moved us closer and closer to the threat of open conflict between federal authority and state authority over operation of Georgia's public schools."

The governor declared such conflict could be avoided by both races "working in harmony voluntarily under our traditional pattern of segregation for concrete advancement of those programs which I have outlined to you today."

Vandiver promised he and the Legislature will do everything possible to permit continued education in segregated schools.

But he noted the Georgia constitution and laws cut off state funds of an integrated school. "Let us hope," the governor said, "that the NAACP will not force the closing of a single school in Georgia."

However, he added, "it is my duty to—and I will—uphold the constitution and laws of Georgia."

The largest increase in Vandiver's budget recommendations, 19 million dollars, would go to public schools.
